TO REBUILD SCHOOL

W. C. T. U. Workers Will Not Abandon Efforts at Hindman.

The W. C. T. U. Settlement School at Hindman, Ky., was destroyed by fire, on Saturday night, Jan. 22. The school building, together with its "Home," was completely destroyed and the power house was considerably damaged. About $4,000 worth of machinery was saved.

The fire originated in the packing room which is in the attic, and where clothing and bedding were stored. It is not known what caused the fire but the supposition is that spontaneous combustion or a match ignited by a rat caused it.

There were ninety pupils and teachers in the school at the time. The little girls gave the alarm from the third floor whither they had gone to retire.

This is the third time the buildings have been burned and the people are very much moved by it. Great sorrow prevailed in the town and county and the citizens of the town met at the Court-house Sunday and pledged money labor and material equal to $4,000 to assist in the rebuilding.

The boys' cottage, a one-story frame building has been saved three times, one workshop having burned within ten feet of its wall at the fire in 1905.

The buildings were heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The total loss will be less than $15,000.

The building, perhaps, unlike any other in the State, was made of hewn logs from mammoth trees—the largest that could be secured in the native forests of Knott county—and was well supplied throughout with expensive furniture and school fixtures.

The school's influence and purpose has transformed the country from that of a feud section, in which much outlawry was committed, to one of quiet, peace, prosperity and intelligence. The hospital building, the power house and the stable were saved.

A mass meeting was held at the Courthouse on Sunday morning at which a committee was appointed to solicit funds for the school. Another committee to solicit funds in the county was also appointed, while $2,400 was pledged by the citizens attending the mass meeting. It is also expected that the Board of Education will appropriate funds toward the erection of other buildings while the County Judge will appropriate $2,000.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

One Should Know How To Provide, The Other Know How To Keep House.

"The man obligates himself to provide the necessities and the woman promises to be the keeper of the home. If the man is proficient in his business and a good provider, has he not a right to expect that you should not be a stranger to yours?"

"The best wives are those that know domestic science, even though they do not do their own washing. The reason many married lovers are lost is because the wife does not know the home business. She can play the piano, is a graceful dancer, a good whist player and a pleasing entertainer; perhaps she is affectionate and considerate and truly loves her husband. She wants to make her home happy, but she has not learned the art of housekeeping. If the cook leaves without notice she is lost or so worried and irritable that Cupid grabs his bow and arrow and flies. The mere man would not have a girl neglect the accomplishments, so called, nor would he take from her her hobbies, but he would have her know her business—the business of being a proficient partner in the firm of Husband & Wife, Limited," in WOMAN'S WORLD for February.

Senator Thomas on Committees.

Claude M. Thomas, the Senator for Bourbon, Clark and Montgomery, is on these committees: Agriculture and Manufacturers, Banks and Banking, Internal Improvements, State University and State Normals (chairman), Fish, Game and Forestry, Propositions and Grievances, Reappointments of Congressional Districts, Inter-urban and Electric Lines, Kentucky Statutes, Codes of Practice, Penitentiaries and Houses of Reform, Revenue and Taxation. The work of the Senate is allotted to 45 committees and Senator Thomas is on 12 of these.

Petition For Pardon.

A petition to President Taft praying for the release of John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker, who is confined in the Federal prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., was circulated among the business men of Bedford, Ind. Walsh formerly owned the big quarries there.

Of course he would like to get out of the penitentiary; so would the man who opened a letter and got a dollar, or the negro who stole a pig.

"GOOD OLD DAYS."

This Is Interesting Reading So Do Not Pass It By.

On Thursday evening, January 20, Rev. E. L. Powell gave his annual Banquet at the Fourth St. Christian church in Louisville. C. W. Bell, of Harrodsburg, Insurance Commissioner of Kentucky, was one of the speakers.

Believing that the publication thereof will be not only interesting but helpful to our readers we begin this week to tell what he said:

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

How would you like to return to the good old days before the bill collector was turned loose upon an innocent, inoffensive and unprotected public.

Before people knew that they had concealed within their anatomies that dreadful and worthless piece of machinery known as the veriform appendix?

When every doctor had his saddle-bags with him, and no matter what the trouble was, he gave you calomel and quinine, and it always cured you?

Before we were notified on every hand that countless thousands of death-dealing microbes lurk in everything, from love's first honeyed kiss to a skillet of fried onions?

When boys wore red-topped, brass-toed boots, and girls dressed in plain dresses and wore their hair plaited down their backs without a suggestion of spit curls, rats and psyche knots?

SAMPLES IN POINT.

When an invitation to a wedding and the "infirm" didn't have to be responded to with a $17 cut-glass bowl, when in all probability the very day you sent the aforesaid punch bowl, you were compelled to drink butter milk out of a stone china coffee cup?

When there were no telephones by which your wife could order a lot of trash that she did not need, and could notify you to come home before you had scarcely struck the club or corner grocery?

When a girl could make up her bed and sweep her room without having a well-defined case of "nervous prostration?"

When a boy could split a little kindling wood and carry in two buckets of coal without having a pain in his side or the headache?

When mother could get six children off in time for school, do all the household work, take a lot of good things to several sick neighbors and not have to be sent annually to the hospital for repairs?

When a man could take a little wine for his stomach's sake without going home drunk and beating his wife and terrorizing the children generally?

When you didn't have to sell a good horse to buy your wife a hat, and two to buy her a coat suit?

When a boy was satisfied with a package of fire crackers and three hog bladders, and a girl was delighted with a china doll and a candy sheep?

Before kids learned to write letters to Santa Claus, asking for wagons, guns, pistols, dolls, doll buggies, doll beds, trains, automobiles, candy, oranges, bananas, nuts, wearing apparel of every description and a cart and a live pony?

When boys spoke of their parents as "father" and "mother" instead of "the old lady" and "the governor?"

When shoes were fitted to the feet and the feet not fitted in the shoes?

WHEN EVEN FATHER WORKED.

When everybody worked, including father?

When women's shoe heels were

ROBERT E. PEARY

Says North Pole Can Be Reached In an Aeroplane.

Aeroplaning to the North Pole was pronounced a reasonable feat by Commander Robt. E. Peary in a discussion at Dayton, O., Jan. 26, with Wilbur Wright.

Mr. Peary met the Wright brothers after delivering a lecture for the benefit of the Tuberculosis Society and they asked the explorer about polar possibilities. The necessities as seen from the Wright point of view he explained, were surfaces that would permit a machine to start in a flight, alight and start again.

"From what I've seen I should feel safe in venturing the speculation that an aeroplane would have no trouble getting open space to alight and start again at any stage of its journey until the Pole had been reached."

The Wrights then quizzed him about the weight and volume of necessary supplies.

The Doctor and The Dog.

A physician was driving through a village when he saw a man who was amusing a crowd with the antics of his trick dog. The doctor pulled up and said: "My dear man, how do you manage to train your dog that way? I can't teach my dog a single trick."

The man glanced up with a simple rustic look and replied: "Well, you see, it's this way: you have to know more'n the dog or you can't learn him nothin'."—Ladies Home Journal.

Baby Born on Train.

A baby was born on Sunday on the fast south-bound Big Four passenger train just before it arrived at Marion, O. The babe, daughter of Rev. W. J. Venon, of Cleveland, O., was named Marion, in honor of the first stop in her little journey in the world.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by all dealers.

The Coin She Wanted.

He had just returned from Paris and said to his old aunt in the country: "Here, Aunt, is a silver franc piece I brought to you from Paris as a souvenir."

"Thanks, Herman," said the old lady. "I wish you'd thought to have brought me home one of them Latin quarters I read so much about."

Hargis Petitions For Rehearing.

A petition for a rehearing in the Beach Hargis case has been filed with the Court of Appeals.

The ground for the petition is the dissenting opinion of two of the judges of the higher court who did not concur in refusing the prisoner a new trial.

Young Hargis was given a life sentence for the murder of his father. Should the petition for a rehearing be granted, it is stated that a strong effort will be made to secure the parole of young Hargis on condition that he leave the State of Kentucky and never return.

P. S.—By unanimous vote the Court of Appeals on Thursday affirmed the sentence against him and he must go to the penitentiary for life.

Farmers on High Prices.

Members of Congress who represent farming districts decline to get greatly excited over the agitation on high food products. One of them says that the popular button being worn in some cities, "do you eat meat?" is about as sensible as a button reading, "do you wear clothes?" In view of the crops they claim that the farmer is not receiving excessive prices. "If it were not for the automobiles horses would be worth about $500 apiece."
